DESCRIPTION

This course is an exploration of some of the salient cultural and social phenomena of modern and contemporary Muslims Societies of the Middle East, as seen through the medium of film. Through the prism of a number of representative films made in the Arab world and Iran, along with relevant historical and theoretical readings, we will explore such themes as colonialism, gender, politics, power, and religion. Throughout the semester, we will watch a selection of films made in the Islamic Middle East (and one about the Middle East made in the West), and will study the cultural, social, and religious issues they highlight. To give you a broader background about the cultural environment, the films will be coupled with relevant readings.

OBJECTIVES

The ability to critically assess and analyze film, and to understand the various social and cultural issues that it highlights.

OUTCOMES Upon successful completion of the course, the students will have covered a number of representative films made in the Muslim Middle East, and will have a broad grasp of some of the most important social, cultural, and religious phenomena specific to the region, while also developing the ability to express themselves orally and in writing.

COURSE NOTES

Attendance and participation is key to your success in this class. This is will be an interactive class, and by attending all sessions and by actively participating you will ensure that you maximize your learning experience (and your final grade).

Missed tests/assignments

Missed tests may not be retaken unless you have a serious excuse. If you do not submit your papers on the due date, for each additional day you will lose 10% (e.g., if it's 100%, you will get 90%). You can have five extra days to submit your paper, after which you cannot submit it anymore and will receive 0 for that paper.

Electronic Device Policy

No cellphones, are allowed in class. You may only use laptops and tablets to take notes: if you use them for any other purpose, such as surfing the internet, checking email, Facebook, etc., you will be asked to turn them off. I reserve the right to ban the use of laptops altogether, should I notice that they interfere with the students' participation and negatively affect class discussion in general.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
 - a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
 - b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
 - c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
 - d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted."

Faculty of Arts

School of Languages, Linguistics, Literatures and Cultures

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

DISABILITIES AND ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION

Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services office at 403-210-6019 or access@ucalgary.ca; SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (<http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/>) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
