DESCRIPTION

This beginner language course introduces students to the specifics of Russian pronunciation and intonation, the Cyrillic alphabet, and the main concepts of Russian grammar as they correspond to or differ from English, as well as basic vocabulary. Since the course lays a foundation for the further study of Russian, special attention is paid to the understanding and recognition of the grammatical categories unfamiliar to speakers of English, such as gender and case of nouns and adjectives, conjugation of verbs and the notion of grammatical agreement. In-class activities include oral comprehension and communication exercises and drills facilitating the acquisition of all the necessary language skills.

The content and the format of the course meet the standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. The course will thus serve as a starting point on the road to certification within the Framework (now available in Canada) opening opportunities for employment that require the knowledge of Russian all over the world.

OBJECTIVES

- to learn the Cyrillic alphabet
- to learn pronunciation of Russian sounds and major intonation patterns
- to learn the cursive writing
- to gain understanding of the main parts of speech, grammatical categories and sentence structure

OUTCOMES

The students will be able to read words and simple phrases and sentences; will have practiced Russian pronunciation dynamics and understand how it is represented in writing; acquire some basic grammar and vocabulary enabling them to have short conversations on everyday topics in Russian, to follow simple written texts and to express themselves in writing within the limits of the covered material. They will become acquainted with various aspects of Russian culture, traditions and worldview in the context of the language, get glimpses into Russian history, and gain familiarity with and appreciation of contemporary Russia.

COURSE NOTES

Students with prior knowledge of Russian must consult the undergraduate program advisor in order to be placed in a course suitable for their level. Students are advised that misrepresenting their level of Russian language knowledge constitutes academic dishonesty and will be dealt with as such.

Since this is a language class, regular attendance and active participation in class activities are expected and encouraged. The instructor should be informed of any reasons for prolonged absence. Doctor's note is required in case of sickness lasting more than a few days.

Written assignments are due Monday of the following week at the latest; other homework assignments should be completed by the next class. Regular homework is of utmost importance in order to follow the pace and succeed in this course.

Missed quizzes and tests will result in the grade of 0; special consideration may be given due to extenuating circumstances.

Please refer to D2L for on-going information, such as test schedules or homework assignments.

Students in this beginner language class are encouraged to participate in group study sessions outside class led by an advanced student of Russian. Details about the group study program, and times and locations of the sessions will be announced in class and on D2L.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

- 1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
- a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
- b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
- c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
- d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted."

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

- 2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.
- 3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.
- 4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
