Guidelines for submitting assignments: Weekly homework assignments are due by Monday at class time (1:00 pm), submitted to the instructor in class. Quizzes and tests will be completed during class. Cultural portfolios and oral presentations will be submitted to D2L dropboxes.

Contingency plan for inability to take a timed assessment during the scheduled time period: If a student is unable to take a timed assessment during the scheduled time period (as listed in the chart above), the student should contact the instructor as soon as possible, providing information about the reason for the inability to take the assessment at the scheduled time, and providing the student’s availability to complete the assessment at a time as close as possible to the originally scheduled time.

Policy for missed/late assignments: If individual circumstances may prevent a student from meeting a course deadline, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor as soon as possible if the student wishes to request credit for any missed assignments. A deduction for completing or submitting an assignment late may apply, in the absence of a strong reason (such as illness or emergency). The extent of the deduction will be at the instructor’s discretion, based on circumstances and how late the assignment is submitted. Late homework from a given lesson will not be accepted past the date of the test on that lesson.

Expectations of writing quality: Most writing for this course will be done in Arabic; you will be expected to use in your writing the skills and material we cover in the course. When writing in Arabic, you must use your own skills and knowledge; use of online translation tools (such as Google translate) to aid in writing assignments is not permitted in this course. Cultural portfolio entries may use both English and Arabic; before submitting your work, please make sure to proofread it carefully for clarity, flow, spelling, and grammar. Evidence of failure to do so (e.g., typos and misspellings) will result in a deduction to the grade on this assignment.

Expectations of attendance: Class sessions are an important time for students to actively practice and get feedback on their developing Arabic skills, and active participation in class is an important part of the course experience and grade. Active participation in class can only happen if a student is present. As such, regular attendance is expected. If you miss a class session, check the daily schedule and/or contact a classmate to see what you missed; no need to email your instructor regarding a class absence unless you have a question or missed a quiz/test. Participation is graded based on patterns of regular participation; as such, missing class occasionally does not impact your participation grade.

Class etiquette & guidelines:
• Students should conduct themselves appropriately and respectfully during class sessions and when interacting with their classmates and instructor.
• During class, please only use technology as is relevant to class. Do not use technology for purposes not relevant to class (e.g., checking email and social media). Doing so distracts you and the people around you and may result in a deduction to your participation grade.

Learning technology requirements: The course D2L site will be the organizational hub for this course. You are responsible for checking the site regularly for announcements and any changes to the schedule.
As per the University’s policy, in order to ensure that students can engage successfully in the learning experiences of blended courses, students will need to have reliable access to the following, in order to access D2L and complete course assignments:
• A computer with a supported operating system, as well as the latest security & malware updates;
• A current and updated web browser;
• Current antivirus and/or firewall software enabled;
• Stable internet connection;
• Ability to take a picture (of hand-written Arabic work) using a phone, camera, or other device and upload to D2L.

Course evaluation procedure: Course evaluations will be conducted online.

ASSESSMENT

Active class participation: 10%
Homework (weekly): 15%
Quizzes (4, worth 5% each): 20%
Tests (3, worth 10% each): 30%
Oral presentations (2, worth 7.5% each): 15%
Cultural portfolio (2 entries worth 5% each): 10%

Extra credit: Optional; 0.25% per eligible activity, up to a maximum of 6 activities

There will be no final exam in this course.
Active class participation: Class sessions are your primary venue for practicing and speaking Modern Standard Arabic, and speaking is one of the skills that this course develops. As such, regular attendance and active participation are key to success in this course. Participation includes paying attention in class, following instructions given, speaking up during discussions and during group/partner work, and volunteering to ask and answer questions. Failure to abide by the class etiquette guidelines listed above will result in a deduction to the participation grade.

Participation will be assessed as follows:
- A range: Volunteer to speak 3+ times per week; active participation in group work during class
- B range: Volunteer to speak 1-2 times per week; active participation in group work during class
- C range: Speak rarely or only when asked; inconsistent participation in group work during class
- D-F range: Infrequent speaking and active participation in class sessions

Homework: All weekly homework assignments will be due each week on Monday at the start of class time (1:00 pm) and will be submitted to the instructor in class. Homework is graded for completion, timeliness, following instructions, showing self-correction (where applicable), and demonstrating understanding of the material. Homework will be listed on the weekly schedule available on D2L. Each drill in Alif Baa is worth one point; each drill in Al-Kitaab is worth two points.

Quizzes: There will be four quizzes during the term, to take place in class, on material covered in advance of each one. Information about the material to be covered on each quiz will be provided in advance. Quizzes will be closed-book.

Tests: There will be three tests during the term, to take place in class. Information about the material to be covered on each test will be provided in advance. Prior to the test, students will have a chance to review the material. Tests will be closed-book.

Presentations: Students will do two oral presentations during the course. The first will be a dialogue done with a partner, and the second will be a monologue (completed individually). Each will be videorecorded and uploaded to a D2L dropbox. Presentations will be evaluated based on their communicating effectively in Arabic, accuracy of grammar and vocabulary usage, speaking smoothly, pronunciation, creative use of language, and adherence to assignment guidelines (which will be posted on D2L and discussed in class). Students who do not wish to videorecord themselves may instead contact their instructor to schedule a time to present in person; students wishing to do this should contact their instructor at least one week prior to the assignment deadline to set a time to present.

Cultural portfolio: The cultural portfolio is comprised of two (2) written entries that are reflective and process-oriented. The cultural portfolio is focused on documenting and sharing your perspectives on, and exploration of, Arabic-speaking cultures. Portfolio entries will be written in English, though Arabic words and phrases may be included as needed. Specific instructions will be provided, posted on D2L and discussed in class. Portfolio entries will be submitted to a D2L dropbox.

Extra credit: Eligible activities will be announced during the semester. They may include Arabic conversation hour, guest lectures, and other activities that enhance and strengthen your knowledge of Arabic language and/or Arab cultures. These activities are optional.
