There will be no final exam in this course.

Active class participation involves speaking up in class, engaging in group activities during class, paying attention to what your instructor and classmates are saying, active listening, and following any instructions.
the instructor gives. Making mistakes is a normal part of language learning and does not harm your participation grade. If you are absent from class, you cannot gain participation points for that day. Being late to class, leaving early, and being disruptive in class will impact your participation grade. There will be no opportunity to make up for missed participation, but absences due to documented medical conditions and personal emergencies will be considered excused.

Homework assignments will be graded for completion, timeliness, and reflecting understanding of the material. All written homework for the week will be submitted as a single packet each Friday. It is your responsibility to submit your homework before leaving class. You may study and do homework with other students in your class, but you must always write your own answers independently.

Three tests will occur during the semester. These written tests will test your knowledge of the MSA we have learned in the previous lessons covered in class. We will have a review of the material before each test.

Short vocabulary quizzes will occur at the beginning of class approximately weekly. They will check that you are learning the new chapter vocabulary. Your lowest vocabulary quiz grade will be dropped at the end of the semester. Near the beginning of the semester, there will be a quiz (worth 1% of the final course grade) on the material pertaining to the course that is covered on the first day of the semester and will be distributed in writing.

Oral presentations (twice during the semester) will evaluate students’ Arabic speaking skills.

The cultural portfolio will be made up of entries comprising brief reports each on an activity related to Arab culture. These activities can take on a variety of forms, and each portfolio entry will include an account of the activity, the student’s reflection on the activity during and after completing it, the student’s learning from the activity, and its connection to our course material.

In-class writing assignments (twice during the semester) will take 15-20 minutes each. Students will be asked to write spontaneously in Arabic about a given topic related to what we have been studying.

Using online translation tools and asking Arabic speakers from outside our class to help complete writing and oral assignments for this course is not permitted and constitutes academic dishonesty.

COURSE NOTES

The University of Calgary has a formal process for Arabic language course placement. Information about course placement can be found at: https://sllc.ucalgary.ca/arabic-languages-and-muslim-cultures. Students who want to enrol in an Arabic course for the first time at the University of Calgary must complete the placement form (https://sllc.ucalgary.ca/placement/) and any follow-up testing required by the ALMC program. Students must follow this process in order to remain in Arabic courses.
ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
   a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
   b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
   c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
   d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

   While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.” Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student’s work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

   4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

COPYRIGHT LEGISLATION

All students are required to read the University of Calgary policy on Acceptable Use of Material Protected by Copyright (https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/acceptable-use-of-material-protected-by-copyright.pdf) and requirements of the copyright act (https://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/C-42/index.html) to ensure they are aware of the consequences of unauthorised sharing of course materials (including instructor notes, electronic versions of textbooks etc.). Students who use material protected by copyright in violation of this policy may be disciplined under the Non-Academic Misconduct Policy.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND PRIVACY (FOIP) ACT

Graded assignments will be retained by the Department for three months and subsequently sent for confidential shredding. Final examinations will be kept for one calendar year and subsequently sent for confidential shredding.
