DESCRIPTION

This course studies the history of the Muslim Civilization in the pre-modern period. It focuses on the development of the political, religious, social, and cultural institutions in the territories where Islam has been a dominant form of religious and cultural expression, including the Middle East, North Africa, and Central Asia. During this course, we will study the history of Muslim empires, sectarian divisions, the emergence of Islamic legal and educational institutions, and will examine the structure of the society in various parts of the pre-modern Muslim world.

OBJECTIVES

The course aims to offer the students a broad view of the historical development of political, religious, social, and cultural institutions in the territories where Islam has been a dominant form of religious and cultural expression, including the Middle East, North Africa, and Central Asia

OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of this course, students will have a broad knowledge of the history of the Muslim empires, of the political and social institutions, and religious traditions of the pre-modern Muslim world. They will likewise enhance their skills in communicating their knowledge orally and in writing.

COURSE NOTES

Attendance and participation are key to your success in this class. This is will be an interactive class, and by attending all sessions and by actively participating you will ensure that you maximize your learning experience (and your final grade). I won't be taking attendance, but I will be sharing lots of materials in class that will be crucial for your success in the exams and the paper, and it's your responsibility to follow everything that's happening in class.

Missed tests/assignments

Missed tests may not be retaken unless you have a serious excuse (see section on MEDICAL EXEMPTIONS below). If you do not submit your papers on the due date, for each additional day you will lose 10% (e.g., if it's 100%, you will get 90%). You can have five extra days to submit your paper, after which you cannot submit it anymore and will receive 0 for that paper.

Electronic Device Policy

No electronic devices, such as cellphones, are allowed in class. You may only use laptops and tablets to take notes; if you use them for any other purpose, such as surfing the internet, checking email, Facebook, etc., you will be asked to turn them off. I reserve the right to ban the use of laptops altogether, should I notice that they interfere with the students' participation and negatively affect class discussion in general.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:

- a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test);
- b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
- c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
- d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted."

Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student's work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (<http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/>) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
