DESCRIPTION

This course provides an introduction to the culture of modern Germany in the 20th and 21st century. You will learn about German history, literature, art, and film. Our readings will introduce you to major historical and cultural developments from the Wilhelmine Period over World War I, the Weimar Republic, the “Third Reich”, World War II and the Holocaust, to Post-war Germany, the German Partition, the GDR and FRG, the Fall of the Wall and the present-day Germany of the Berlin Republic.

Main topics of the course are the two World Wars and the Holocaust, as well as their interpretation in historiography and in cultural studies. We also will analyse examples of German cinema, literature, and other forms of art.

Our main reading sources will be Oliver Hilmes’ book Berlin 1936: Sixteen Days in August (published in 2018 – required course material), a literary collage of historical scenes around the Olympics in Nazi Germany, and excerpts from Ian Kershaw’s historiographical study To Hell and Back. Europe 1914-1949 (acquisition recommended but not required). Both books will be available at the UofC bookstore (MacEwan Hall). Other texts will be made available through D2L.

OBJECTIVES

The goal of this course is to make you excel in knowledge about major aspects of German history, German literature, art, film since the beginning of the 20th century.

OUTCOMES
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to understand main parts of Germany’s history and culture since 1900. They will be trained to closely observe, read and analyse historiographic texts, literary texts and film. They will have enhanced their presentation, reading and writing skills. Last, but not least, they will have learned how to bibliographic research for writing individual academic papers.

REQUIRED COURSE MATERIALS

The book will be available through the textbook department of the UofC bookstore (MacEwan Hall). Physical copies will be available in the beginning of January.

RECOMMENDED COURSE MATERIALS

This book will also be available through the textbook department of the UofC bookstore (MacEwan Hall) by early January.

Other readings will be available through D2L.

COURSE NOTES

All numbers about the page lengths of assignments refer to the layout: double spaced, font Times / Times New Roman 12, 1 inch margins.

Attendance and Participation are the key factors of this class. Participation means active engagement in the activities of the class (with your ideas you improve the discussions for everybody); it is based on thorough readings of the assigned texts, films, and other homework assignments. Unexcused absences will impact negatively student’s participation grade. The quality of the sessions will depend upon your preparedness and willingness to engage with each other. Please note that you do not have to have understood everything you have read to make a valuable contribution. Expressing doubts, disagreements, and asking for clarification is a useful way of contributing to discussion. Your class participation mark will be based on the quality rather than the quantity of your contribution. Also, it is essential that all participants treat each other with respect and courtesy. Students who feel unable to actively engage in classroom discussion must bring their concerns to the instructor’s attention early so that an alternative strategy to ensure adequate performance can be sought.

Missed presentations, missed tests, missed deadlines: Expected to contact the instructor (by email) prior to the missed class / deadline in order to reschedule the presentation or in order to ask for an extension.
Group Presentation: This group work is an opportunity to introduce, in approximately 30 minutes, a historical character / chapter / aspect of Oliver Hilmes’ book Berlin 1936: Sixteen Days in August. The goal of the work will be to more closely understand the difference between fiction, artistic representation and historical truth. Everyone will have to join on of these group presentations. Powerpoint presentation or 1 or 2 pages handout for class to be handed in one day before presentation.

The Ticket to Class tests the students’ understanding of the assigned readings or movies to be watched. You might be asked to answer a short quiz at the beginning of a class. Further, you may be asked to come up with a good written question based on the reading / the movie, to respond to a question or issue raised by the lecture, or to write an abstract. Summarizing your ideas on course material helps you to formulate your research question in a precise and focused way. Bibliographic references will support, deepen and extend your thoughts.

Updated reading (for example of theoretical texts or interpretations), homework as well as schedule changes will be announced in class, via D2L, or via e-mail. Please check your UofC accounts on a daily basis.

Research paper: You will be required to write one paper (between 5 and 7 pages). It will be about one of the texts or movies discussed in this class, or an aspect of these works. Possible topics for these papers can be discussed with the instructor beforehand. More information (including the deadline) soon to follow.

If you are a major or graduate student in our German programs, you are encouraged to write in German; if you are not a native speaker, this will of course be taken into account. At the discretion of the instructor, a paper submitted after the deadline may be penalized.

Final Exam: After the end of the Winter Term, there will be a take-home exam. In this exam, you will have to respond shortly to some questions and write a short mini-essay about your learnings.

Writing skills statement: All writings assignments will be marked according to content, form, analysis, and originality as well as clarity of writing including grammar, spelling, and organization. To improve your writing skills, contact the Effective Writing Centre: https://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing_support/overview.
