DESCRIPTION

As a continuing German language class, this course will focus on all four language skills: reading, writing, speaking, and listening. Class activities will be embedded in a rich cultural context that allows students to further acquire and build on basic vocabulary to express themselves on everyday topics relevant to students and travelers in the German-speaking countries and to understand written and oral texts relating to diverse cultural issues.

Prerequisites: German 204

OBJECTIVES

Students can expect to:
- Expand their vocabulary and interact with written and oral texts relating to various issues.
- Deepen their familiarity with a broad range of cultural issues.
- Learn and review basic points of German grammar so that they can carry out more complex communicative tasks, including expressing opinions.
- Further develop their ability to self-correct by learning to recognize and correct grammatical and other inaccuracies.
- Hone reading strategies to understand different kinds of texts of increasing complexity.
- Develop listening and speaking abilities by interacting with the instructor, tutorial leader, and fellow students, and listening to German speech in various forms (e.g., video, music, dialogue).

OUTCOMES

Students will increasingly be able to integrate all four language skills: reading, writing, speaking, and listening. Upon successful completion of the course, they will achieve greater linguistic and communicative skills and improve their cultural competence as language users.
DISTRIBUTION OF GRADES

Class and Tutorial Participation (15% of the final grade)
In class, students will be expected to
- Be prepared (read new required material, review material from previous class)
- Contribute to group and class discussions and activities
- Complete group and individual tasks, such as short pieces of written work, grammar practice, oral or written summaries of group discussions or prepared readings, etc.
- Complete regular homework assignments

Active use of German is a main goal of this course, so it is essential that students come to class and the tutorial and that they be prepared to participate. Some students are naturally quieter and more introverted than others; however, this general guideline is meant to give students an idea of what constitutes active participation. Active participation demonstrates that students are committed to their own learning and to the learning of others. Please see more detailed information regarding participation under "course notes."

Writing Projects (2 × 7.5% = 15% of the final grade):

Students will have to complete two writing projects during the course of the semester on topics related to themes covered in the textbook. The writing projects will be assessed on technical accuracy (grammar, spelling, word choice) and content/creativity (does it make sense as a whole, does it successfully communicate to the reader, has the topic been approached in a way that is thoughtful and interesting). I will provide topics and explain assessment criteria for the written assignments closer to the due dates. Note that online translators or other aids are not permitted; their use constitutes a violation of academic honesty.

Tests (2 × 15% = 30% of the final grade)

There will be two in-class tests covering listening, grammar, vocabulary, reading, writing, and cultural knowledge. NO books, aids, or electronic devices of any kind are allowed. Missed tests cannot be rescheduled.

Video Presentation/Fluency Project (15% of the final grade):

Students will create a video, poster with embedded audio files, or narrated slide show to share with the instructor and classmates. Assessment will be based on creativity, pronunciation, fluency, and comprehensibility. More details will be provided closer to the due dates.

Final Exam (25% of the final grade):

The final exam is a comprehensive 2-hour exam scheduled by the Registrar’s Office. No exceptions will be made to the examination timetable, but students can defer exams under certain circumstances (https://www.ucalgary.ca/registrar/exams/deferred-exams). NO books, aids, or electronic devices are allowed.

Please contact me if you have any concerns now or at any time during the course.

COURSE NOTES

D2L: Detailed Course Information, Syllabus, Assignment Instructions, and various resources will be posted on our course site.

Participation is crucial for success. To give you an idea how in-class participation will be graded, please see the rough guideline below:

- A = prepared for class and volunteers frequently (at least 3 times per class)
- B = prepared for class and volunteers infrequently (1 – 2 per class)
- C = prepared for class but does not volunteer; answers when called upon
- D = not prepared for class and sometimes absent
- F = not prepared for class and often absent

Please know that class participation does not always involve speaking in front of the whole class. You will be doing a great deal of group and partner work, and I will monitor your participation with others. The participation grade will be based on my observations as well as on written learning logs and participation self-assessments, which give you the opportunity to reflect on your engagement with the material, the language, and your classmates, as well as your progress and commitment to the course.

5% of the participation grade is for your work in the tutorial (preparation, interaction with classmates and tutorial instructor). As outlined above, another 10% is allotted to your participation in class, submission of the written learning logs and participation self-assessments, and for homework completion: you will be expected to do regular homework to prepare for class and the tutorial and/or to practice newly learned material. Some homework will be activities in the textbook’s online course materials. Preparing and practicing at home frees up class time for activities you cannot do on your own, such as exchanging ideas, engaging in conversation and discussion, etc. Homework benefits your own learning process but also is a responsibility you have towards the other students in the class: it is a prerequisite for interaction and active use of German during class/tutorial time.

Remember that language homework is like practicing for a musician or training for an athlete—that is, classes and tutorials are the times you get to work with tutors or coaches (instructors) and with ensemble or team (fellow students). In the end, you get evaluated on your performance, and to achieve good performance, you have to make the effort to practice.

Regarding absences, please note that it is your responsibility to review the course schedule and textbook and to contact classmates to find out what you missed.
ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
   a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one’s own in an examination or test);
   b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
   c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
   d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

   While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.”

   Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student’s work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students' examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

COPYRIGHT LEGISLATION

All students are required to read the University of Calgary policy on Acceptable Use of Material Protected by Copyright (https://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/acceptable-use-of-material-protected-by-copyright.pdf) and requirements of the copyright act (https://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/C-42/index.html) to ensure they are aware of the consequences of unauthorised sharing of course materials (including instructor notes, electronic versions of textbooks etc.). Students who use material protected by copyright in violation of this policy may be disciplined under the Non-Academic Misconduct Policy.

Graded assignments will be retained by the Department for three months and subsequently sent for confidential shredding. Final examinations will be kept for one calendar year and subsequently sent for confidential shredding.
