DESCRIPTION

This course provides an introduction to the scientific study of language, including the analysis of word, sentence, and sound structure, and the exploration of language as a human, biological, social, and historical phenomenon.

OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this course, students will have a grasp on the study of language as a human cognitive system. Students will also be introduced to the logic underlying linguistic reasoning.

OUTCOMES

• Students will have a basic knowledge of the International Phonetic Alphabet
• Students will be able to identify word categories and components in English, and apply tests that can be extended to other languages
• Students will be able to identify constituents and draw trees for simple English sentences.

DISTRIBUTION OF GRADES

• 5 Quizzes = 16% (4 best considered: 4% each)
• 6 Assignments = 34% (5%: 1st, 6th ; 6%: 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th)
• 1 Midterm Exam = 20%
• 1 Final Exam = 30%

Final Examination:
The Final Examination will be scheduled by the Registrar during June 19-21. Requests for pre-assignment of examinations to special dates for whatever cause or reason cannot be accommodated. Similarly, changes in the dates of scheduled examinations cannot be approved. No exceptions will be made to the Examinations Timetable

GRADING SCALE

REQUIRED TEXTS

Additional book chapters will be distributed via D2L.

RECOMMENDED TEXTS

The accompanying Study Guide for the 8th Edition of Contemporary Linguistic Analysis is recommended but not required.

COURSE NOTES

• Attendance is not mandatory
• Extensions or other consideration for late assignments or missing the midterm will only be granted provided the conditions described below are met.
• All assignments should be submitted in hard copy in class. Emailed pictures of assignments will not be accepted.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

1. Plagiarism is a serious offence, the penalty for which is an F on the assignment and possibly also an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw. Plagiarism exists when:
   a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one’s own in an examination or test);
   b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author;
   c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or
   d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

   While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.”

   Plagiarism occurs not only when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement but also when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. A bibliography is insufficient to establish which portions of the student’s work are taken from external sources; footnotes or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose.

2. Cheating at tests or examinations includes but is not limited to dishonest or attempted dishonest conduct such as speaking to other candidates or communicating with them under any circumstances whatsoever; bringing into the examination room any textbook, notebook, memorandum, other written material or mechanical or electronic device not authorized by the examiner; writing an examination or part of it, or consulting any person or materials outside the confines of the examination room without permission to do so, or leaving answer papers exposed to view, or persistent attempts to read other students’ examination papers.

3. Other academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, tampering or attempts to tamper with examination scripts, class work, grades and/or class records; failure to abide by directions by an instructor regarding the individuality of work handed in; the acquisition, attempted acquisition, possession, and/or distribution of examination materials or information not authorized by the instructor; the impersonation of another student in an examination or other class assignment; the falsification or fabrication of clinical or laboratory reports; the non-authorized tape recording of lectures.

4. Any student who voluntarily and consciously aids another student in the commission of one of these offences is also guilty of academic misconduct.

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM
Writing skills should cross all disciplines. Students are expected to do a substantial amount of writing in their courses and, where appropriate, instructors can and should use writing and the grading thereof as a factor in the evaluation of student work. The services provided by the Writing Centre in the Effective Writing Office (http://www.efwr.ucalgary.ca/) can be utilized by all undergraduate and graduate students who feel they require further assistance.
